BEST OVERALL IT STRATEGY

The goal of this project was to implement a centralized CADD asset management program using Bentley's Enterprise License Subscription (ELS) and Enterprise Training Subscription (ETS) as key tools. The program would consist of three major points: licensing, training, and support.

Parsons Brinckerhoff (PB) has more than 70 offices in the United States that currently use Bentley software under an ELS and ETS with Bentley. While the ELS would give staff the tools to complete their projects, the ETS would educate them on how to use the tools. As a result, support staff could be used to enhance the productivity of the offices. The ability of the firm's staff to use the "right tool at the right time" became paramount in its successful implementation of the program.
